The Apostles' Creed

I believe in God, the Father almighty, Creator of heaven and earth,
and in Jesus Christ,
his only Son, our Lord,
who was conceived by the Holy Spirit,
born of the Virgin Mary,
suffered under Pontius Pilate,
was crucified, died and was buried;
he descended into hell;
on the third day he rose again
from the dead;
he ascended into heaven,
and is seated at the right hand of God
the Father almighty;
from there he will come to judge the living and the dead.
I believe in the Holy Spirit,
the holy catholic Church,
the communion of saints,
the forgiveness of sins,
the resurrection of the body,
and life everlasting.
Amen.

Memorial Acclamation

When we eat this bread and drink this cup,
we proclaim your Death, O Lord
until you come again, until you come again.

Amen

Amen. Amen.
Alleluia, Amen!

Lamb of God

Lamb of God,
you take away the sins of the world.
Have mercy on us, have mercy on us.

Lamb of God,
you take away the sins of the world.
Have mercy on us, have mercy on us.

Lamb of God,
you take away the sins of the world.
Grant us peace, grant us peace.

Remembrance

Matt Maher & Matt Redman

Oh, how could it be that my God would welcome me
 into this mystery?
 Say, "Take this bread, take this wine?"
 Now the simple made divine for any to receive.
 By your mercy we come to your table,
 by your grace you are making us faithful.

See his body, his blood,
 know that he has overcome
 every trial we will face.
 None too lost to be saved,
 none too broken or ashamed.
 All are welcome in this place.
 By your mercy we come to your table,
 by your grace you are making us faithful.

Refrain

Lord, we re - mem - ber you, and re - mem - brance leads us to wor - ship. And as we wor - ship you, our wor - ship leads to com - mun - ion. We re - spond to your in - vi - ta - tion. We re - mem - ber you.

Dying, you destroyed our death.
 Rising, you restored our life.
 Lord Jesus, come in glory.

Matt Redman & Beth Redman

Where Your streams of abundance flow
Blessed be Your name

When the world's all as it should be
Blessed be Your name

Blessed be Your name

Though there's pain in the offering
Blessed be Your name

Every blessing You pour out I'll turn back to praise...

say, "Lord, Bless - ed be Your name." You name."

Birth of John the Baptist

This past week we celebrated the feast of the Nativity of John the Baptist on June 24th. It's an unusual celebration. We usually commemorate saints on the day when they died, honoring their rebirth into the heavenly Kingdom. This feast of John's birth obviously doesn't follow that pattern.

It is biblical, though, recounted in Luke 1:5-25, where the priest, Zechariah, received a visit from the angel Gabriel, announcing that he and his wife Elizabeth, in their old age, would have a son they were to name John. The birth narrative continues in vv. 57-66, along with a lot of amazement.

Revealing a very literal, calendar consciousness, John's birth is celebrated three months after the Feast of the Visitation, on March 25th, when Gabriel appeared again, this time to Mary. Besides telling her of the birth of Jesus, Gabriel also announced that her kinswoman, Elizabeth, was at that very moment six months pregnant (Luke 1:36). As I said, in a very literal fashion, if Elizabeth was 6 months pregnant on March 25th, John was born in a timely way, three months later on June 24th. Do the math.

But that's not all there is to it.

John's birthday, on June 24th, is also just days away from the Summer Solstice on the twenty-first, after which the days will begin to grow shorter till the Winter Solstice, on December 21st. You'll notice that's just days before Christmas, when the days begin to lengthen again. The whole scheme is a celebration of John's words, while speaking of Jesus, "He must increase, but I must decrease" (John 3:30).

The very days of the year embody this reality, growing shorter after John's birth, and lengthening after Jesus', inviting us into a reflection of where we are with him.

Are we willing to decrease our will, our waywardness, our sense of importance, any self-centeredness, so that Jesus can increase within us? What it would be like if there was a buildup of Jesus presence in your life. What would happen to your prayer life? What would happen to the way you conduct yourself at work or at home? What would be the difference in the way you parented your children and shared your life with your friends? If Jesus had a richer part in your affairs, would it change either your morning or evening routines? Would it affect the way you drove, or spoke to the clerk at the register of the grocery store, or the way you reacted to the agent who picked up the phone after you were on hold for twenty minutes?

John's model sets us up for an aspirational goal. We will struggle towards Jesus, and never quite make it to the place of our satisfaction, but we just might make a lot of progress anyway, even as we stumble repeatedly.

The wonderful thing about Jesus is that he is not inclined to take offense at our mistakes, when they are well intentioned. We see that in our Gospel today. Jesus takes no offense at the hemorrhaging woman, even though she presumes upon his capacity to heal. Instead, he calls her "daughter," and tells her to go in peace, after he heals her. Then again, when the family of Jairus, who are distraught at the death of his daughter, ridicule Jesus, he puts them out, but resuscitates Jairus' daughter anyway. Jesus doesn't let the woman's presumption, or the family's rude treatment, in the midst of their grief, get in the way of the good he intends to do for them.

So it will be with us, especially if we do what that woman and Jairus did: they acted as though Jesus was their hope, and it proved to be true. They gave him more room in their life, and he made the most of it.

I invite you to consider making John the Baptist's words your own: "Jesus must increase, and I must decrease." You will have no reason to regret it if you do, and much to profit.

Siempre adelante,

Fr. Patrick

Foster One-on-One Relationships Safely

One-on-one time with trusted adults is healthy for children and helps them to build self-esteem and long-term relationships. You can protect your child while still ensuring they have time and opportunity to build these relationships. You can drop in unexpectedly when your child is with another adult, even if that person is a trusted family member. Insist on observable outings, in public places. Talk with your child after an outing, noting his mood or her ability to confidently tell you what happened. For more information, visit www.d2l.org/education/5-steps/step-2

Faith Sharing Question

Reflection questions for every gathering around any table

Summer Reflection

Summer is an opportunity to enjoy the wonder of God's creation. Longer, warmer days take us outdoors for dining, playing, and socializing. Schedules open up, allowing for travel and adventure. Summer is also a good season to reflect on our relationship with God. How might you find God in the natural beauty of a garden or in the sound of waves at the beach? Will you take God with you on summer travels, remembering the virtues of patience and gratitude along the way? Will you rediscover how to talk to God, taking comfort in his company?

Becoming Catholic

Catholic Inquiry's Summer Schedule

Have you been considering becoming Catholic, or do you just want to inquire about the Catholic Faith before you decide to join our community? Summer is a good time to begin! During the summer, Inquiry continues to meet but only twice a month, on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. We are currently meeting on Zoom, 7:00 - 8:30 pm. Our summer gathering dates will be July 13 and 27, Aug. 10 and 24, Sept. 14 and 28. In October, we will resume our weekly meetings. During the summer, we watch a series of DVDs on various Catholic themes followed by a discussion in a relaxed atmosphere. Come join us! For information on the process of becoming Catholic or of receiving Confirmation and First Communion if you are already a baptized Catholic adult, please contact Catherine Shadduck at (805) 482-6417 x331 or catherine@padreserra.org
